Newsletter December 2020

Greetings,
Thanks to all who shared recipes and stories.
Mary has been working hard to get them together
so everyone can enjoy them.

Plans have not yet been made for the January meeting. Michelle, Atlantic Library Director, has offered to help us set up a Zoom meeting. I think that could offer an interesting opportunity to get acquainted with members who are at a distance from Atlantic. Program suggestions are always welcome.

Members, you are invited and encouraged to rejoin for 2021. Dues are the same at $15. The membership form is the other half of this page.
Perhaps you know some other folks who would like to join.

Best wishes for this season and a new year.
LaVon Eblen, President,
Cass County Genealogical Society.

Quilt Story Continues

Have you been following the Lovisa Ranney
Brand quilt story? Debi Chase, Librarian for Iowa Genealogical Society, read the article in our newsletter and requested to use it in the December issue of the state newsletter. That resulted in another family relative requesting information about the quilt.

Digitized Newspapers - are they used?

Yes, they are. Michelle reported data for the month of November. There were over 1000 searches in the Newspaper Archive. The analysis for Advantage Preservation is shown in a different way but reports 100 sessions by 49 people.
