

Autopsy July 1984 report released

Hunter Dahlof, an 18-year-old rural Walnut youth fatally injured in Harlan earlier this week, died of an "accidental injection injury from high pressure," causing a mass hemorrhage, according to an autopsy report released by State Medical Examiner Dr. Thomas Bennett, Des Moines.

Officials said the freak accident occurred while Dahlof was operating a hot-water hose used for cleaning.