Buried at sea

The family of Robert Armentrout has been informed by the US Navy that his cremated remains, with those of other Naval personnel, have been buried at sea in a military ceremony conducted with Military Honors. The committal ceremony took place July 19, 2013, from the deck of a proud warship, the USS Lake Champlain (CG 57), while the ship was off the coast of San Diego, CA. This was the base where Bob received his basic training.
