

Gerald (Jerry) Davis, 57

Oct. 3, 1935 - Dec. 23, 1992

AUDUBON — Memorial services were held Jan. 4 in Audubon, IA., at the Presbyterian Church, for Jerry Davis, who died Dec. 23, 1992 in Las Vegas, NV., where cremation took place. Death was due to cancer.

He was born in Brayton, IA., Oct. 3, 1935, son of Curtis and Leona Davis. He graduated from Audubon High School in 1954 and then attended Kansas University and Iowa State University. In 1957 he married his wife Dee McCrum. To this union five children were born.

His newspaper career began in Harlan where for 13 years he worked on the sports staff and also as advertising manager. He left Harlan about 1972 and then worked on numerous Iowa papers in Waverly, Monticello, Anamosa and Des Moines Register. He left there in 1986 to become publisher of the Mohave Valley News in Bullhead City, AZ.

He was preceded in death by his father, Curtis Davis. Survivors include: his wife, Willardine (Dee) Davis of Bullhead City, AZ. 86422; Scott Davis, son, Sacramento, CA.; Bruce Davis, son, Corpus Christie, TX.; Mark Davis, son, Anamosa; Brad Davis, son, Minneapolis, MN.; Amy Wrzesinski, daughter, Morrison, CO.; Leona Davis, mother, Audubon; Marvin Davis, brother, Minneapolis, MN.