

June 20, 2000, pg 4 B

Harlan Co. Tribune
Scot Saemisch, 33

Nov. 11, 1966 - March 26, 2000 ✓

DENISON – Scot Douglas Saemisch was born Nov. 11, 1966, son of Dwight and Karen Johnson Saemisch in Denison. He received his education in Denison Community Schools, graduating from high school in 1985. He then pursued a career in graphic arts, attending the Art Institute of Dallas in Omaha, graduating in 1987. After graduation, he was employed at Midwest Industries in Ida Grove for four years. He subsequently started the Saemisch Design Group in Denison, designing graphic arts of various kinds and specializing in unusual advertising signs. He remained in Denison until the spring of 1999, when he moved to Altoona and was employed by the G & G Poured Foundation Company, remaining with them until the fall when he joined Schneider Graphics. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Denison. He died near Winterset, March 26, 2000, at age 33.

He was preceded in death by his paternal grandparents, Wilbur and Mildred Saemisch; and his maternal grandfather, Kermit Johnson. Survivors include his parents, Dwight and Karen Saemisch of Denison; one brother, Chad Saemisch, and his friend, Julie Kain of Des Moines; two nephews, Skyler Saemisch and Ryan Kain of Des Moines; and his maternal grandmother, Doris Johnson of Lake View, and other relatives.

Funeral services were held March 29, 2000, at First United Methodist Church in Denison. Reverend Chrise Ferguson officiated the service and graveside rites were held at the Odebolt Cemetery in Odebolt. Honorary casket bearers were Skyler Saemisch, Ryan Kain, Troy Schneider and Steve McGinn. Casket bearers were Jeff Schneider, Steven Miller, Jamie Miller, Neil McGinn, Lyle Freese and Chris Jones. The Huebner Funeral Home in Denison in charge of arrangements.